

RAILROAD STRIKE SETTLEMENT NEAR

FORMAL RATIFICATION OF RAIL PEACE CERTAIN, CLOSE OBSERVERS SAY.

JUSTICE TO BE GIVEN TO ALL

Seniority Issue to Be Swept Aside at Meetings of Union Heads and Railroad Executives, It Is Assured.

Chicago, Ill.—Peace terms already have been agreed to in the country-wide railway strike and formal ratification has been assured through President Harding's efforts. It was asserted by a man in close official touch with the situation.

All that now remains before the strike which has cost the workers upward of $40,000,000 in wages, pauses into history, it was asserted, with the formal endorsement of the terms of settlement by the railway executives' meeting in New York and the strike leaders, who will convene in Chicago.

The acceptance of President Harding's proposal was a foregone conclusion before T. Dewitt Cuyler issued the call for the meeting of the rail executives in New York and Bert Jewell, head of the striking shopmen, summoned a similar meeting of union chiefs for the same date.

The exact terms probably will not be known until after the meetings, but whatever they are, the objections of a minority on either side will not be sufficiently strong to obstruct or prevent their ratification by both sides.

The seniority issue has been raised since the beginning of the strike, it must be remembered, and it is not as great a stumbling block as it has seemed at times. When the time comes it will be disposed of with justice to all and to the satisfaction of the great majority of the workers.

ST. LOUIS FLYER KILLED IN CRASH

AIRPLANE IS DEMOLISHED IN A 500-FOOT FALL.

E. W. Anderson Fatally Hurt and Elmer Dempsey, Pilot, Injured, When Machine Crashes.

St. Louis.—A 500-foot fall in an airplane at Lambert Field, near Bridgeport, St. Louis County, resulted in the instant death of E. W. Anderson, 33 years old, an insurance adjuster, and the serious injury of Elmer Dempsey, 29 years old, a chauffeur.

Anderson's breast was crushed when the machine buckled as it struck the ground. Both men were rushed to Barnes Hospital, St. Louis, where Anderson was found to be suffering from severe lacerations about the head and body, a fractured skull and internal injuries.

Dempsey, who was piloting the airplane, was flying for altitude after leaving the ground, when spectators noticed the plane veer and then shoot straight downward in a nose dive. They had gained an altitude of about 500 feet and were almost directly above a grain elevator, about a quarter of a mile northwest of the hangars, when the "dead air" was encountered.

It appeared, momentarily, that Dempsey would succeed in righting the machine, as he was able to steer clear of the elevator. It came to earth in a field not far from the building.

Anderson was in the front cockpit, while Dempsey was in the pilot's seat behind. The fall dislodged the motor, pinning Anderson between it and the back of the cockpit. The machine was completely demolished.

Both men were experienced flyers and both held pilot's licenses. Each had half interest in the machine, which they had been flying for about four years. Since they bought the airplane, Anderson and Dempsey have made a number of flights at Forest Park Highlands.

TWO SUBMARINES REPORTED MISSING

UNITED STATES SHIPS LOST OFF THE COAST OF LOWER CALIFORNIA.

LINERIGHTS CLOUD OF SMOKE

Platiffs of Twelve Ships, Scheduled for Decommissioning, on Trip From Los Angeles, Cal., to Hampton Roads, Va.

Los Angeles, Cal.—Four submarines which left Los Angeles for Hampton Roads as part of a flotilla of 12 scheduled for decommissioning, were reported missing off the Lower California coast south of Bismarck. The craft said to be missing were the L-4, L-4-L, L-7 and L-8, all of which were built at Long Beach, Cal., during the war.

The story of the apparent disappearance of the four submarines was brought to Los Angeles by the liner City of Honolulu, Capt. Thos. W. Sheridan, from New York.

Capt. Sheridan said that below Kona, the City of Honolulu sighted a cloud of smoke some distance away and changed its course to learn the cause.

"It was a submarine badly smoking," he said. "It made no answer to our signals."

"Later," continued Capt. Sheridan, "we signaled the tender Beaver, which had the submarines in convoy. At first she made no answer to our signals, but later responded to our semaphore order of assistance. She said she had eight submarines in convoy and needed no help."

A message received at the submarine base at Los Angeles Harbor from Commander Roy L. Stover, in command of the submarine flotilla, stated he had eight submarines in convoy. The message contained no reference to the other four.

The submarine base also intercepted a message from the tender Beaver to the L-8, ordering her to stand by to take a tow line from the L-5.

IMPORTS OF ALL LIQUORS INTO U. S. IS BANNED

DRASTIC NEW RULES ISSUED BY DEPARTMENT.

Commissioner of Internal Revenue Blair Halts Shipments Until Supplies Prove Insufficient.

Washington.—Imports of wines and liquors were banned by Commissioner Blair of Internal Revenue until supplies already in the country for non-beverage uses are insufficient to meet the national requirements.

Drastring new regulations designed to shut off one of the sources of illegal liquor supply were issued by Blair covering the entrance of alcoholic beverages into the country.

"No permit for the importation of spirits will be granted," the regulations stated, "until the amount of such liquor in distilleries or other bonded warehouses shall, in the opinion of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, have been reduced so that additional supplies shall be necessary to supply the current need thereafter for all non-beverage uses."

In determining the supply of spirituous and vinous liquors, the regulations declared that such distinction will be made between the various kinds as may be necessary to insure a sufficient supply for the various needs, and in the case of wine for sacramental purposes importation will be permitted upon the affidavit of a rabbi, minister or priest that there is not sufficient domestic supply of the particular wine required.

Except as to sacramental wine, the regulations provide that a basic permit to import, withdraw and use may be granted only to one using liquor for manufacturing or other lawful non-beverage purposes, and a basic permit to import, withdraw and sell may be granted only to a wholesaler or retail druggist.

Other persons, the regulations added, may obtain permits to import, withdraw and sell sacramental wine and to import and sell other liquor without withdrawal by means of customs warehouse receipts.

PLANE HEAD DIES IN FALL FROM CLIFF

IN FALL FROM CLIFF

Glacier Park, Mont.—Dr. Frank B. Wynn of Indianapolis, president of the American Alpine Club and one of the country's foremost mountain climbers, was killed in a 300-foot fall from a cliff near the summit of Mount Siple, one of the highest peaks in Glacier National Park.

According to Dr. H. Goddard, also of Indianapolis, who was a few minutes behind Dr. Wynn on the trail, the latter's fall from the narrow ledge followed what appeared to be an apopleptic stroke. Dr. Wynn was 58 years old, and while apparently in good health, it was believed that the 10,000-foot altitude and the emotion of the climb proved too much for him.

They had neared an unusually steep position of the trail, Dr. Goddard said, when Dr. Wynn, who was leading, turned and opened his mouth as if to speak. Then, without uttering a word, he pitched forward on the trail. Before Dr. Goddard could cover the intervening distance, his body rolled over the rock ledge and disappeared.

Recovery of Dr. Wynn's body proved a slow task because of the inaccessibility of the ledge on which it landed. The recovery was effected and the body was taken out of the park and started for Indianapolis.

INVESTIGATORS FAIL TO SOLVE ROMA'S FALL

Report Says That a Master Switch Might Have Averted U. S. Airship Disaster.

Washington.—The exact cause of the fatal plunge of the giant army airship Roma, which crashed to earth near Norfolk, Va., last February, killing 34 of the 35 persons aboard, can never be known, according to the official report of the investigating board, made public by the War Department.

Had the Roma been equipped with a master switch, by which the officer in command could have stopped all his motors at once, the catastrophe might have been avoided, the report says, and adds that the Roma lacked emergency ballast releases, regarded by the board as essential to the safety of such aircraft.

"If the Roma had been inflated with helium, instead of hydrogen, undoubtedly the loss of life in this accident would not have been so great," the report declares.

FOUR MEN SAVED FROM BURNING MINE

RESCUERS MAKE 15 DESCENTS NEAR WARD, ILL.

General Manager, Two Inspectors and Pumpman Were Entombed by Cavein During Fire.

Murphysboro, Ill.—The four men trapped in a shaft of the Midway Coal Company's mine at Ward, 10 miles northeast of this city, when they went down to investigate a fire in the shaft, were rescued by a mine relief team directed by Frank Rosbottom, state mine inspector, of Du Quoin, Ill. The last one of the four was taken from the shaft about an hour after the other three had been liberated.

The last man rescued from the mine was Harry Laughlin, an inspector, the only one of the four who lost consciousness while entombed in the shaft, approximately 100 feet below the surface.

The other three, Milo McGowan, general manager of the mine; William Forth, a pumpman, and Tom Kelly, an inspector, were able to leave for the surface after being brought to the surface.

According to Rosbottom, the fire was caused by smoldering flames, which had been sealed up in the mine last February, breaking out anew. The fire was discovered and Supt. McGowan and his men descended to investigate, when they were caught behind a cavein.

Three of the men were found floating in a small pool of water. Rosbottom said, not far from the surface, indicating they had been trapped on their way back to the surface. Three rescue teams, working in shifts, made 15 descents before the first three were found.

According to Lamar, a rock was thrown through a window of the roundhouse, and he stepped outside to investigate, when he was attacked by three men. Policeman William Schulte and G. D. Case, a member of the city council and a special policeman, were arrested following the affray, which attracted them to the roundhouse.

GIRL NOW WELL AND STRONG

Danbury Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as Her Only Aid.

Worcester, Mass.—"My daughter at Danbury had had a very bad case of nervous prostration, and was unable to get on her feet. She had been in bed for several months, and was very weak and thin. I gave her Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and in a few days she was able to get up and walk. In a few more days she was able to do any work she wanted to do. She is now well and strong. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all mothers with sick daughters, and I give you permission to publish this letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. A. M. Dunbar, Danbury, Conn. She looked at him a little dazed and replied: "No, the dog didn't hurt me, it was the tin can tied to its tail."
